

Jeanne brings to the industry over 30 years of global business travel experience both as a buyer and supplier. Her first buyer role was the Director of Travel for a major entertainment company where she developed and implemented a managed global travel program. After six successful years, she was recruited by American Express to manage their entertainment division in Los Angeles and Nashville. Over the next nineteen years, Jeanne went on to assume greater responsibility with expanded roles in operations, client management and a global assignment in the United Kingdom.

In 2015, she moved to Denver to join Corporate Travel Management (CTM) in a senior leadership role as they expanded in the United States. Back home in Los Angeles, Jeanne joined OSI-Systems, Inc. as the Director of Global Travel and Expense in January 2020.
