

Chris Lefevre
Vice President Program Management
BCD Travel

Currently Vice President Program Management at BCD Travel, Chris launched his career in travel in 2006 as a leisure consultant and has held leadership positions in the corporate, leisure, and technology segments of the industry including roles at Sabre, Egencia, and Flight Centre.

In his current role, Chris leads a team of strategic program managers responsible for the success of their clients' travel program in close partnership with BCD Travel, while ensuring that organizational and commercial objectives are achieved.

Chris has lived in 4 countries (US, France, Canada, UK), visited 50 others, speaks 4 languages fluently, holds a bachelor's degree in International Business, and often says that a career in travel simply feels natural! He has recently served as Board member and President of the Los Angeles Business Travel Association.

On the personal side, Chris and his wife Diana who is from Italy have 4 children. He is an avid outdoorsman and teaches surf year-round.

